Bill,

In speaking with Robert yesterday, he said you were looking at blowing up the account profile folder I am currently using. I thouht I should let you know the one I copied to Robert did not have proper margins, and page set up's on it, as I was just testing it. I have since then got my pages aligned so all is on one page should you want to print it. So I am attaching the corrected version of it, in the event you wanted a hard copy. I do have a master blank foem that I use to set up a new account as I go along.
